PNSolutions, Inc. Achieves MHEC Accreditation

(Professional Network Solutions, Inc., Waldorf, MD) – The Maryland Higher Education Commission, (MHEC), approved Professional Network Solutions, Inc. to operate as a private career school on July 31, 2003. The accreditation establishes Professional Network Solutions, Inc. as an approved provider for four (4) separate career-track programs: Microsoft Office User Specialist I, Microsoft Office User Specialist II, Microsoft Certified Systems Administrator (MCSA) and PC Technician. The MHEC accreditation involved a complete review of the schools' career-track programs, student grading systems, and administrative policies, as well as an on-site visit to insure the training facility and equipment met the high standards of the Commission.

"The entire process took nearly a year and we were thrilled to get the final approval," said Amy Eastburn-Gallo, President of PNSolutions, Inc. This accreditation not only earns PNSolutions a degree of respect in the educational community, it also opens the doors for county- and state-based financing and referral programs. Private career schools fill a popular niche in the higher education arena, providing an alternative to the ever-increasing cost of four- to seven-year college degree programs. You can train to get your MCSA certification in months, rather than years, allowing you to get into the workforce with the required credentials and earning power.

The long-awaited MHEC accreditation comes on the heels of Professional Network Solutions' distinction as Charles County Technology Company of the Year for 2003 awarded in June at the Third Annual Leading Edge Awards.

Southern Maryland residents who find the small computer-training provider on the web are always pleasantly surprised. Many professionals updating their computer skills have had to go to DC or Northern Virginia for their training. Now those who have discovered us enjoy the convenience of training in their back yard, as well as avoiding the rush-hour traffic.

The school is also an Authorized Prometric Testing Center. Students can take their certification exams here for just about any technical computer program, regardless of where they received their training. In addition to the four programs approved by MHEC, PNSolutions, Inc. offers computer classes in PC Basics, QuickBooks, Web Design, Desktop Publishing and Cisco certifications.

PNSolutions, Inc., was established in March of 2001, in an effort to bridge the gap between technology and the Southern Maryland community by providing comprehensive training, network and audio-visual solutions. PNSolutions, Inc. is a small, woman-owned business located in Waldorf, MD. Fully owned and operated by Eastburn-Gallo, a Charles County native.
